Humanitarian Perspectives:

Reflections on protection and the relevance and utility of applying the R2P concept in practice

‘Advocacy by operational aid actors is frequently juxtaposed with programming...with speaking out weighted against potential costs to programmes, staff and beneficiaries.’

Humanitarian Policy Group, Policy Brief 28, Humanitarian Advocacy in Darfur: The Challenges of Neutrality, 2007, 2.

Principles

Type	Principle
Humanitarian Principles	<ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>• Humanity</li><li>• Impartiality</li><li>• Independence</li><li>• Neutrality</li></ul>
Protection Principles	<ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>• 'Do No Harm'</li><li>• Ensure non-discrimination , inclusion, assess vulnerability</li><li>• Protect the right to life/access to humanitarian assistance</li><li>• Assist people to assert their rights</li></ul>

Responding to Protection Risks

$$\text{RISK} = \frac{\text{THREAT} \times \text{VULNERABILITY}}{\text{CAPACITY}}$$

Reduce threats

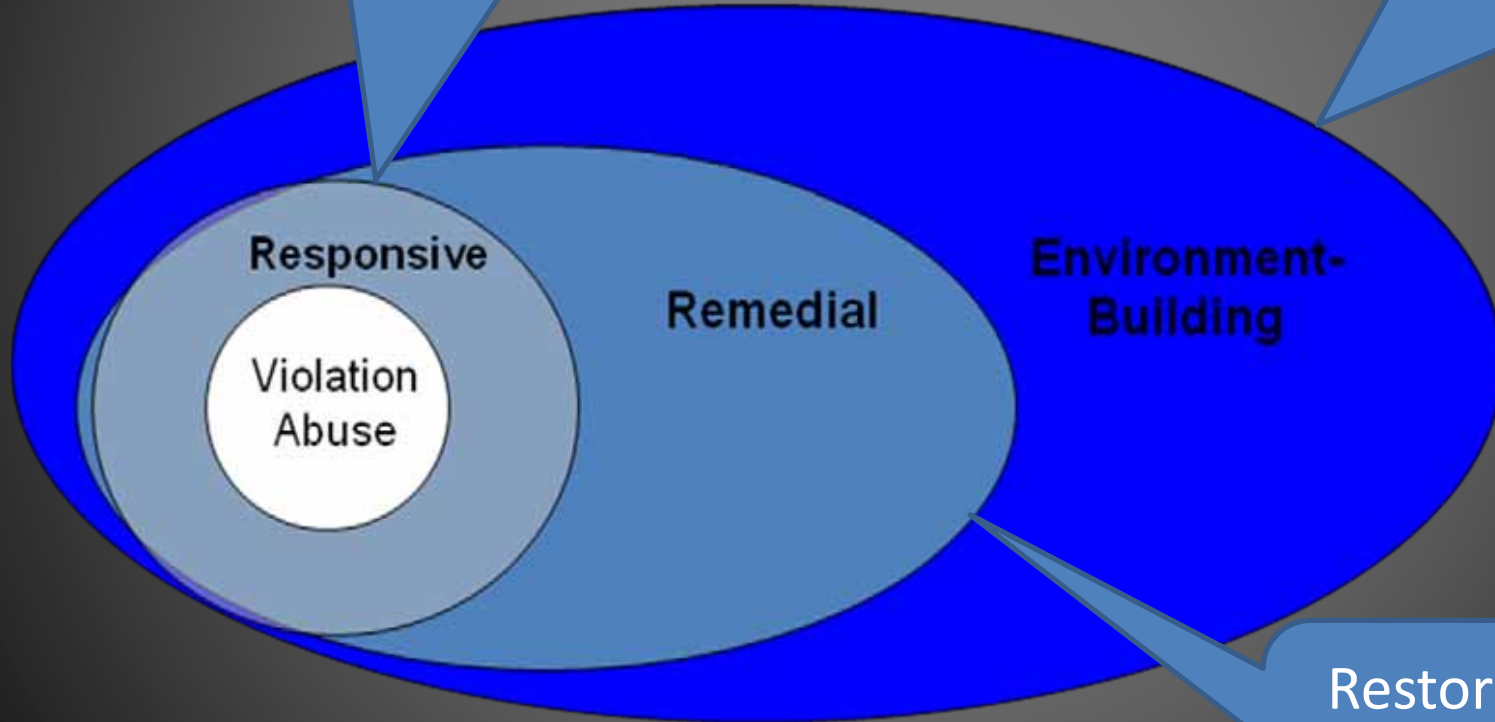

Reduce vulnerability/exposure to harm

Increase capacities for self-protection

The 'Egg' Framework

Stop, prevent recurrence, alleviate immediate effects

Foster environment where authorities respect their obligations [structural prevention]

Restore dignity & adequate living conditions

Protection Monitoring

- General or Community-level monitoring
  - Assess changes in overall protection situation
  - Focuses on understanding trends and patterns to inform programme implementation
- Incident or individual-level monitoring
  - Documents specific violations; case management
  - Undertaken by trained monitors

Monitoring & Reporting Mechanisms

- Implementation 'controversial & uneven'
- Political nature of MRM & threat to humanitarian principles
- Risk of retributive attacks against staff, communities & programmes
- Aimed at high level action
- Perceived limited impact
- Inability to meet practice standards

Sorcha O'Callaghan and Deepayan Basu Ray, A Review of Response to Abuse Incidents for World Vision International, 2009, 11.

Management of Sensitive Data

- Clear purpose & managing community expectations
- Systematic data collection – training & procedures
- Informed consent - risk assessment and measures to avoid negative consequences
- Objective & impartial, avoid discrimination & minimise bias; domestic laws
- Explicit about reliability & accuracy
- Security safeguards
- Avoid duplication

A photograph of two young boys standing outdoors on a sandy ground. The boy on the left is wearing a light blue denim shirt and has his hand near his face. The boy on the right is wearing a red t-shirt and is looking directly at the camera with a serious expression. The background is a mix of sand and small, colorful objects scattered on the ground.

‘We stay in our community even though we consider them [armed soldiers] our enemies. But we are living with them because there is nothing we can do to stop them. Rape is our daily food’

‘Dying here doesn’t mean anything, killing people looks like a game’

Children’s Perspectives, North Kivu, 2008

'There were so many gunshots, looting and lack of food. Even if you had money you couldn't [access] food. Women were raped, people couldn't move freely around. We were just hiding ourselves under our bed.'

'We suffered a lot in 2008. There were so many IDPs around and gun shots everywhere. We could not [regularly] go to school to attend class because of gunshots, and sometimes when we returned home from school we could not find our parents. They had gone, and we did not know what to do.'
